Support Dog A.I.D. by leaving a Legacy Gift in your Will

Accredited member since 2009

Your financial assistance enables us to continue our work

- ◆ Dog A.I.D. (Assistance in Disability) was founded in 2002 and holds an important role by training assistance dogs for adults with physical disabilities. We offer specialist training to those that desire to train their own dogs.
- ◆ Dog A.I.D. differs from other similar organisations in that the physically disabled owner is educated to train their own dog through the support of an experienced trainer, often within the comfort of their own home.
- ◆ If possible the owner implements all the training under the careful guidance of their trainer.

Your legacy to Dog A.I.D. is significant to our future

- ◆ We do not receive any financial assistance from the Government and totally rely on fundraising activities, donations and legacies.
- ◆ A Legacy Gift will help us to continue our work helping physically disabled adults.
- ◆ Your Legacy Gift will help us to increase our national coverage and reach more potential clients across the country, minimising waiting time.

You and your family benefit from leaving a will

- ◆ A will allows you to decide the fate of your money and possessions, and avoid unnecessary involvement from the Government.
- ◆ A will allows your desires and wishes to be legally recorded and subsequently implemented.
- ◆ A codicil can be added easily to an existing will to include further beneficiaries. It is always advisable to seek legal advice about amending your will.

Ways of leaving a Legacy

- ◆ Pecuniary Legacy: This is when you decide on leaving a set amount of money to the charity in your will.
- ◆ Residual Legacy: This refers to the amount left after your main beneficiaries and all debts have been paid from your estate. The residual amount would then be paid to the charity.
- ◆ Specific gift: This refers to a specific item(s), for example: property, land, jewellery or other assets.

We hope you consider us in your will and help us secure our vision for the future of Dog A.I.D. and our clients. Thank you.
